

Cleantech Forum New York Innovation Pavilion

Join Cleantech as a Forum Exhibitor

Access to top cleantech innovators, investors, corporations and influencers

Connections and partnerships with key stakeholders in cleantech globally

Promotion of your brand at one of the world's most important cleantech industry events

Position your organization as a leading cleantech player

"The Cleantech Group has been instrumental in charting the course and shaping the vision for a new international community of investors, companies, policy-makers and professionals."

David Lincoln, Managing Partner, Element Partners

Cleantech Forums events are a premier two-day intelligence platform, and provide insight, investment opportunities and unparalleled networking for leading power players in the sector.

Participation as a Forum exhibitor will help position your organization as an influential cleantech leader. You will receive opportunities to market your cleantech expertise to industry stakeholders who are actively shaping cleantech markets worldwide.

Taking Cleantech Financing to Scale

This fall's Forum will address innovation in key clean technology resource-efficiency categories — energy efficiency, transportation, smart grid, and water, among others — from a finance angle.

With long, expensive company and product lifecycles to support, cleantech innovation is as much about business models as it is about technology. Cleantech companies are capital thirsty and there's not enough global venture investment to create a low-carbon world.

Innovators, leaders and experts from the worlds of business, finance and technology will convene at Cleantech Forum New York to discuss this topic – critical to the future of cleantech.

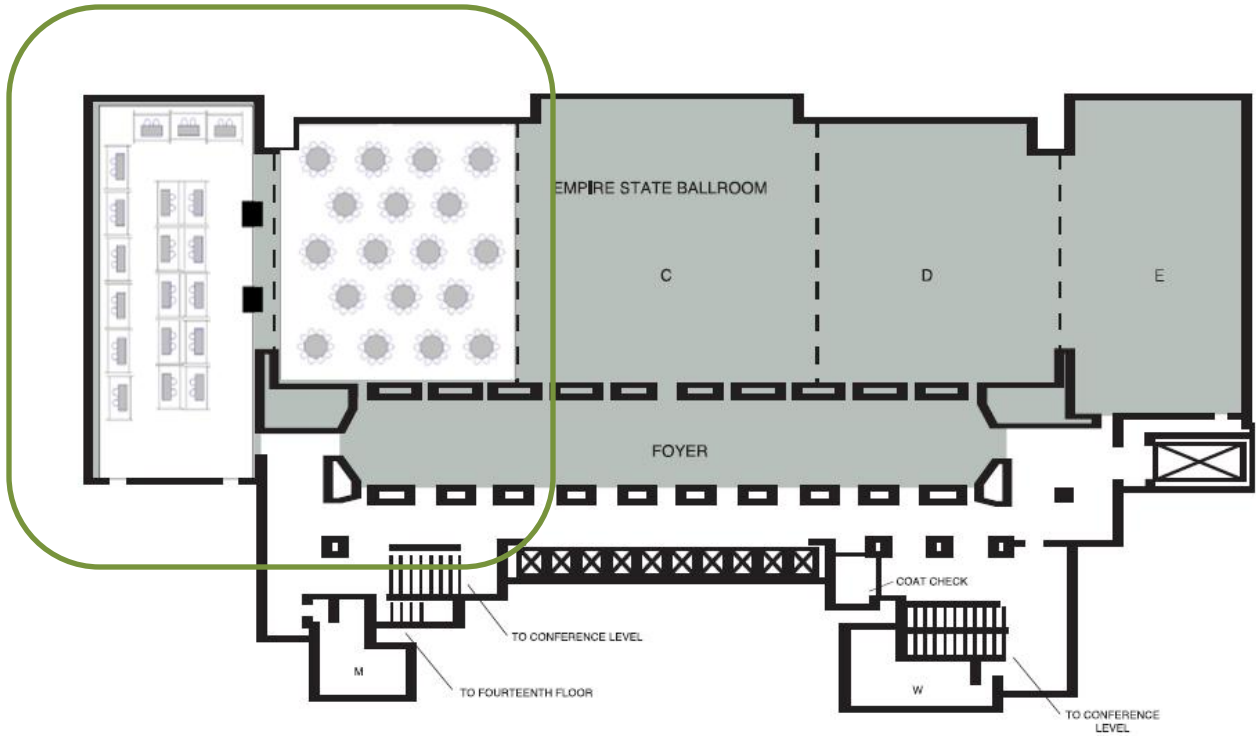

Benefits of Exhibiting at Cleantech Forum New York:

With 600+ industry heavy-weights and many other high level decision makers in the cleantech community in attendance, exhibiting provides an unparalleled time efficient marketing and networking opportunity.
